PREFACE.

— 1146068

The Authoress or Compiler of the following Genealogical Record, commenced it without any intention to present it to the Public, or to continue it to its present extent. Solicited, however, by her friends, and encouraged by the interest which many of the Relatives have manifested in the publication or multiplication of copies of the work, she has been induced to continue her enquiries, and extend her researches and labors as far as her slender means would permit, and existing records and memorials thereof would authorize. In the following pages, there will be found of generations of the Robinson line seven, of the Safford, eight of the Harwood, six, of the Clark, six. There is accredited information that in the Robinson line, there has been and is eight Samuel Robinsons in a lineal line, my son the eighth. In the more ancient generations there are no authentic records to justify their insertion here. In respect to the deficiencies of the work, it is deemed proper to remark, that a number of the relatives, both in the lineal and collateral lines, from a spirit of enterprise and the course of emigration, have become scattered, and reside at a distance from the Compiler; this has occasioned the necessity of acquiring information by mail, which in some cases has not been entirely satisfactory; in other instances, families have neglected to "keep sacred the memory of their ancestors" by records and memorials, and even traditional accounts of them are less to be depended upon, and are less minute than this mode of transmission, is presumed to have been, before records were known and in general use. To these causes may be ascribed the deficiencies, which perhaps, will occur in the following pages. There has been some difficulty in determining the births and ages of persons in extreme old age, owing to the failure of memory; she has in these cases resorted to Town records, where any existed, and where none existed, and Bible records were missing, has presumed to confide in the general accuracy of the relations given.—It is believed no very material error of this character will occur. There may be also some defects in the spelling of given names; and this, in consequence of the difficulty of deciphering the writing of some kind correspondents, who have, probably been governed more by motives of despatch, than plainness of writing. The facilities to the making and preserving genealogical records are so multiplied and common as perhaps to furnish a reason why they are so much neglected, and neglected too against the statutory advisements and provisions of the land. The abolition of hereditary distinctions, and descent of property to particular heirs, in our country has lessened some of the reasons of its importance; still the moral tendencies and utility of preserving memorials of our ancestors in the lineal, and even in the collateral line remain. There are other tendencies peculiar to this age, which may be set down as calculated to diminish that feeling of respect for our fore fathers, which once formed the marked character of our race; all should resist idolatry in this matter, but all should rationally honor, remember and revere their ancestors.

There is something revolting in the idea that we shall soon be forgotten, and be to the living of this world as if we had never been: on the contrary, there is much to encourage, console and elevate us in the hope, that we shall be remembered with respect by our kindred friends, acquaintance and posterity, and that we shall not pass in this respect into utter darkness and forgetfulness. All the tendencies of cherishing past humorous remembrance are virtuous. The "hearts of fathers should be turned to the children, and the hearts of children should be turned to the father". If this little compilation, should have any effect to lead to more care in making and preserving records of our ancestors and contemporaries, to prolonging the memory of the generations passed, and passing, and of those to come, in all their expanding and multiplying, and thereby assist to awaken and perpetuate kind and kindred feelings, and moral affections, one object will have been gained.—that it may be an admonition, that all must pass away and be as those who have gone before us. The following pages are dedicated to kindred contemporaries, and their posterity. In the hope that all will remember their progenitors, as they wish to be remembered after they have respectively paid the debt of our nature—that unremitted penalty of disobedience to the statutes and commandments of that good and holy Being, who is continually making known some fresh memorials of his love and the riches of his grace.

 daughter of Ebenezer Bothel; he was killed by the Indians, in attempting to enter the fort at North Colerain, at the time of their attack.

The following families, comprising twenty-two persons were the first emigrants to Bennington, Vt.—June 18, 1761.

Mrs. Bridget Harwood, with her family,—Zachariah, Stephen, Abigail, Hepzibah, from Amherst, Ms.; Peter Harwood, with his wife, and son Clark, from Amherst, Ms.
 Eleazer Harwood, with his wife, from Amherst, Ms.; Leonard Robinson, with his wife and two daughters,—Sarah, and Lydia, from Hardwick, Ms.; Samuel Robinson, with his wife, and two daughters,—Mary, and Persis, from Hardwick, Ms.; Samuel Pratt, with his wife, from Amherst, Ms. Timothy Pratt, with his wife, from Amherst, Ms.

As many of the numerous descendants of Capt. Samuel Robinsen, (p. 5. 2g.) may be pleased to know the circumstances which led him to remove to Bennington, and establish a settlement, I have added the following facts, taken from the Vermont Gazetteer, and the preface to Judge Chipman's Reports:—"Mr. Robinson, being a captain, in the service of Great Britain, in the old French War, was stationed with a company of men, at Fort George, in the year 1748. On his return to Hardwick, he took the route by the Hoosick River; while proceeding up that river, he took the Walloomsac branch, by mistake, and followed it up to the tract of country now called Bennington. He was so much pleased with the fertility of the soil, he was determined, if possible, to obtain a grant, and forthwith went to Gov. Wentworth, and procured a charter; the town was named after the grantor, being the first town granted by him in this State. About this time, the established order of Christians, in Connecticut and Massachusetts, began a persecution of the societies which were called Independents, or Separates. These people struggled with all the zeal and perseverance, and all the obstinacy of a persecuted sect; but they struggled in vain, and they naturally looked to the New Hampshire Grants, as a place of refuge. Two entire societies of Independents, one from Massachusetts, and one from Connecticut, emigrated to the Grants, for the purpose of enjoying religious freedom. These societies, uniting together, brought their minister with them, and made a settlement, more important and more flourishing than any other in the Territory. Among these settlers, were the Robinsons, Deweys, Fays, Saffords, Walbridges, and many others, equally worthy, who had an influence, and principle agency in establishing the title under New Hampshire, and finally, achieving the independence of the State. It is not too much to say, that the persecution of these people, causing them to make this settlement, and producing in them a strong attachment to the cause of civil and religious liberty, with an unconquerable determination to maintain them, was among the principal causes of establishing the independence of Vermont.
